LATIN SYNONYMES.

BASED ON

MEISSNER'S "KURZGEFASSTE LATEINISCHE SYNONYMIK."

BY

EDGAR S. SHUMWAY, A.M.,

ADJUNCT PROFESSOR (IN CHARGE) OF LATIN, RUTGERS COLLEGE; PRINCIPAL OF CHAUTAUQUA "ACADEMIA"; EDITOR OF "LATINE."

BOSTON:
PUBLISHED BY GINN, HEATH, & CO.
1884.

Entered, according to Act of Congress, in the year 1884, by EDGAR S. SHUMWAY,
in the Office of the Librarian of Congress at Washington.

PREFATORY NOTE.

THIS work was begun with the design of merely translating Meissner's "Kurzgefasste Lateinische Synonymik" for serial publication in the journal "Latine"; but it was found that, with the revision and additions necessary, more space was required than could well be devoted to it in that journal. A hand-book was therefore decided upon which might serve not as an exhaustive discussion of synonymes, but rather as a terse compendium whose sections should be germs to be more fully developed by the student. If the teacher but inspire the pupil with the spirit of exploration, placing finger-posts at doubtful places only, he has done far more to educate that pupil than if he place before him prolix definitions exhausting every shade of meaning, and so deprive the student of that zest and satisfaction which come from personal discovery. To encourage such exploration, wide margins have been left to be utilized in recording additions.

Were the limitations in space not so imperative, it would be most desirable to place before each section a group of Cicero's sentences, to induce the student first to make the distinctions for himself, after the manner so admirably illustrated in Mr. Tetlow's "Latin Lessons." It is, however, easy—thanks to that monument of patient scholarship, Merguet's "Speziallexikon,"—for the teacher to indicate copious examples.

Grateful acknowledgement of valuable assistance is here due to Miss Caroline P. Townsend and Mr. Samuel M. Otto, and especially to Mr. John Tetlow, who has kindly examined the proof-sheets and given very helpful suggestions.

EDGAR S. SHUMWAY.

RUTGERS COLLEGE, September, 1884.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

The references throughout are not to pages, but sections. In the Latin Index figures in bold-face type indicate those sections in which the word is explained. A list of easier groups for beginners is suggested by stars.

*1. Abandon.	relinquere, in general ; (See 153.) deserere (de-serere, lit. scatter away as seed, throw away), leave in the lurch, exercitum, amicum (partic. perf. pass. destitutus or derelictus, while desertus is adj. = desert).
2. Acknowledge.	fateri, to speak out something that has been concealed ; confiteri, to confess something, culpam ; profiteri, to announce clearly, in plain terms, without fear, philosophiam or se philosophum (esse). Ita libenter confitetur, ut non solum fateri, sed etiam profiteri videatur ; prae se ferre, to keep in view. (See 67.)
*3. Admire.	mirari, to deem anything remarkable (mirum), to be surprised at, but also to admire ; admirari, to admire something as great or grand.
4. African.	Afer (subst.), born in Africa, P. Terentius Afer ; Africanus (adj.), belonging to Africa, ventus Africanus ; Africanus, a Roman who stands in some outward relation to Africa, Scipio Africanus, legiones Africanæ. Carefully distinguish Asianus — Asiaticus (Scipio Asiaticus) ; Gallus — Gallicus — Gallicanus ; Hispanus — Hispanicus — Hispaniensis ; Siculus — Siciliensis.
*5. Afterwards.	posthac (opp. nunc), hereafter or in future, the present of the speaker being taken as the starting-point ; postea (opp. antea), of something happening since a past occurrence.

6. Again.	rursus, rursum (re-vorsus [verto], lit. backwards), indicates repetition ; iterum, for the second time ; denuo (de-novo), anew ; de integro, afresh.
*7. Age.	aetas, period of life ; senectus, of an old man. (He has been successively : infans, puer, adulescens, iuvenis, grandior natu or senior, senex. Adult,— aetas constans, media, firmata, corroborata, not a. virilis.)
*8. Agreeable.	iucundus (hypothetical form iuicundus, from iuvare), causing joy, iucunda narratio, an agreeable, interesting story ; gratus, welcome. Medicina aegrotis grata, non iucunda.
9. All.	totus, in opp. to separate parts ; universus (unus-verto, lit. turned into one), the parts brought into unity (opp. singuli) ; universum, the universe ; cunctus (through coniunctus), united (opp. dispersus) ; omnis, opp. nemo ; integer [in-tango], lit. untouched, still uninjured, still whole.
10. Almost.	fere (ferme), about so, (limiting,) esp. with expressions of number and time, = about, omnes fere ; also equals almost always (plerumque), ut fere fit ; paene and prope, if it falls only a little short of completeness, paene perii.

*11. Ambitious Canvass.	ambitio (ambire), orig. the going about of candidates canvassing for an office, legitimate ; ambitus, illegal canvass.
*12. Animal.	animal, animans, every living thing, therefore also man ; (See 113, 141.) bestia, the beast as contrasted with man ; (See 109.) belua, the large, unwieldy beast ; fera, the wild beast.
13. Anyhow. At least.	saltem (old acc. [salvus, salus], lit. saved ; cf. "save" = except), descending from higher to lower ; quidem, limiting and emphasizing the word which it follows enclitically ; certe, assuring, ("or at least" = aut). (See 34.)
*14. Arms.	arma, including offensive and defensive ; tela, offensive only.
*15. Army.	exercitus (exerceo), the army as a trained body ; agmen (ago), on the march ; agmen primum, the van ; a. extremum or novissimum, the rear ; acies (a sharp line), the army in line of battle ; copiae (through coopia, from com and ops, lit. abundance of aids), the army in the hand of the managing commander, troops, magnae, parvae (as individuals = milites).
16. Ask. Request.	rogare (perhaps from the same root as ῥέγω, reach for, yearn for), to request ; orare, stronger (os), lit. speak, to request in a formal way, to present one's request, rogo te atque etiam oro ; (See 98, 155.) obsecrare (ob-sacro), to adjure one by everything that is holy to him ; implorare (in-ploro), to beseech one (with tears) when in need, misericordiam, esp. deos ;

supplicare (sub-plico), lit. bending the knee, hence meekly beseeching (alicui pro aliquo) ;
precari (prex), beseechingly to call upon one, to pray, deos or aliquid a deis ;
petere (of the same root as impetus, lit. to grasp at), to seek to attain something, whether by request or demand.

17.
Assembly.

concilium populi, in gen. a meeting of the people ;
conventus (con-venio), coitus (con-eo), voluntary assembly of the people ;
contio (through conventio), a deliberative assembly to hear the statement of a magistrate ;
comitia, orum, an assembly of the whole Roman people which takes conclusive action, whether it be for the purpose of forming laws, choosing officers, or judging about capital crimes.

orbare (orbus), lit. = to deprive of children or parents, in general, to take away the dearest thing ;
exuere, to pull off, to put off, pharetram umero, ensem vaginā.

52.

Despise.

contemnere, to consider something as no great thing, e.g. pericula, mortem ;
spernere (opp. concupiscere), to scorn something, to consider something not worthy to be desired, e.g. voluptates ;
despicere (lit. to look down from above, opp. suspicere), to look down upon something of little value, vulgi opiniones ;
aspernari (opp. appetere), not to care for a thing ;
recusare, a decided declaration of unwillingness ;
fastidire, to feel disgust, to shrink from anything unpleasant to the taste, smell, etc. ;
neglegere (opp. to curare), not to care, be indifferent to. (See 1.)

53.

Destruction.

perniciēs, in general ;
pestis, like perniciēs, but may mean the person who brings destruction ;
pestilentia, the pestilence, plague.

54.

Different.

diversus (dis-vertere, lit. turned away from each other), opposed ; diversi abierunt, they went away in opposite directions ;
varius, manifold, variegated, flores, colores.

55.
Discuss.

disserere (dis-serere, lit. fasten at intervals), to develop a chain of thought (of orators and philosophers) ;

disputare (dis-putare, lit. to reckon apart), with grounds for and against. (Substantive for both verbs is disputatio, not dissertatio, which is post-classic.) (See 177, 95.)

disceptare (lit. to seize hold of and separate), to dispute. (See 41.)

56.
Doubt.

non (haud) dubium est quin = there is no doubt that ; sine dubio, beyond all doubt, not sine ullo dubio ; on the other hand, sine ulla dubitatione, subjective, without any hesitation. (See 34, 13.)

57.
Earth.

terra, as matter and element (orbis terrarum, the whole earth, lit. circle of lands) ; (See 102.)

tellus, as the globe (poet.; once in prose, Somn. Scip.).

humus, the ground, as the low (humilis) portion of the visible world, humi iacere ;

solum, the firm ground, solo aequare, to level with the ground.

 clear ;
 dicere, to say plainly ;
 profiteri, to announce plainly ; (See 2.)
 declarare, by deed or example to make clear. To declare one's opinion, dicere — not declarare ; to declare war, bellum indicere, denunciare — not declarare ;
 interpretari (interpres), to expound, translate, interpret, as monstra, fulgura, somnia. |
| *68.
Fail. | abesse (opp. adesse), of that which in general is not there ;
 desse and deficere, of necessities, the first of abiding,
 the second of beginning = to begin to fail, sol,
 pecunia deficit. |

*69. Famous.	clarus (lit. bright gleaming), especially of statesmen ; celeber, much visited, portus, oraculum, celebrated ; nobilis (from root GNO), famed, especially of artists. (See 124.)
70. Favor.	favor, in general ; aura (orig. the air in gentle motion), favor as easy to win, easy to forfeit, aura popularis, unreliable favor of the crowd ; studium, from one of lower rank toward one of a higher, temporary, quiet ; gratia (opp. invidia), objectively, favor, influence.
71. Fear (to fear).	timor, fear, fright, on account of faint-heartedness or cowardice ; metus, anxiety, on account of one's foresight and prudence (without implication of censure) ; verecundia, awe, on account of reverence ; just so timere, metuere, vereri. Stronger grades of fear are : pavor, a being disheartened ; trepidatio (lit. confused running hither and thither), fear which expresses itself in external haste and restlessness ; horror, the shuddering fear ; formido, shuddering terror (formidines, monsters, frightful objects).
72. Finally.	postremo (ad extremum, ad ultimum), of that which is last ; (See 103.) tandem, of that which happens after long expectation, frequently also in pressing questions = then or in the world ; demum, of that which happens later than it should, or which could have happened before ;

denique, at the end of an enumeration : primum, deinde, tum, denique (postremum). Therefore tum demum = then at length, tum denique = then finally.

73.
Find.

invenire (in-venire, lit. to come upon something), generally casual ; (See 66, 127.)

reperire (re-pario, lit. to make again), by seeking ; idiomatic : to find approval = probari ; to find belief = fidem habere ; to find satisfaction = acquiescere in aliqua re et al., not invenire.

74.
Fitted.

idoneus, by nature useful for some purpose, locus idoneus ad aciem instruendam ;

aptus (from obs. apere = to adapt [cf. apiscor, adipiscor]), lit. adapted, adapted by art or practice, calcei apti ad pedem, aptus ad dicendum, skilled in speech ; (See 148.)

opportunus (ob-portum = before the port), seasonable, esp. of time ;

commodus, convenient ;

utilis, suitable.

75.
Flatter.

blandiri alicui, by caresses or agreeable conduct ; assentari (assentior) alicui, to say yes to some one ; adulari (orig. perhaps of dogs, to wag the tail at) aliquem, cringingly to flatter.

76.

185.Thanks.*To thank.

gratiam alicui habere, to feel gratitude toward some one (in heart) ;

gratiam alicui referre (meritam, debitam), pro aliqua re, by deed to show one's self thankful toward some one on account of something, thankfully to recompense some one for something ;

gratias alicui agere, to express one's thanks to one (with words) ;

grates agere (dis immortalibus), solemnly to return thanks to the gods ;

gratiam alicui debere, to owe one thanks ;

gratiam mereri, to deserve thanks.

186.*Time.

tempus, in general ; in plur. circumstances of the time ; in the time of Pericles, temporibus Periclis, not tempore in the sing. ;

aetas, period of life, or epoch ; the greatest man of his times = summus vir illius aetatis, not suae aetatis ; (See 7.)

aevum, poetic;
tempestas, a point or space of time, a period.

187.
Together. simul, of time;
una, generally of place, = together with, iter facere;
idem, when a twofold property or occupation of one person is expressed, philosophus idemque poeta.

188.
Translate. transferre, word by word (also ad verbum exprimere, not verbo tenus, which means "in name merely rather than fact");
vertere, convertere, interpretari, to translate more freely (to translate into Latin, in Latinum vertere), ('translation,' conversio not versio).

189.
Tribute. tributum, direct;
vectigal, indirect.

190.
Truth. verum dicere, not veritatem d., as veritas is truth in the abstract;
in truth, certe, sane, profecto, vero, not re vera (opp. specie). (See 34.)

191.
Undertake. suscipere (opp. recusare), in gen. to undertake a thing or business;
recipere, to take upon one's self a thing or business which has been assigned to one, and to be responsible for the result (v. promittere).

192.
Use. uti, to make use of something;
adhibere (ad-habere, to hold something to something, to bring one thing to another), to use for a particular purpose, remedia morbis.

193.
Vainly.
In vain.

frustra (fraus), subjectively, of the person deceived in his expectations ;
nequiquam (ne [for non] — quiquam, modal abl., which has come to be an adv. which = in any way), objectively, of the matter in which nothing is accomplished.

194.
Voluntarily.

ultra, without external occasion ; ultra bellum inferre, to wage an offensive war ;
mea, tua, sua sponte, from one's own impulse, uninfluenced by others.

195.

nomen (nosco), the name, esp. proper names ;

vox (vocare), as spoken, esp. full of feeling ;

dictum, ingenious, sharp expression, like a bon mot (so scitum) ; (See 177.)

sententia, word as expression of opinion, however not cum gen. of person, as it would in that case mean opinion, view. ("Those well known words of Homer" is illud Homeri, or Homericum ; "with the words," cum diceret [after a praeteritum in the prin. clause], cum dicit [after a present in the prin. cl.] ; "after the words," ubi dixit ; "to say a few words," ut pauca dicam ; "not a single word," ne verbum quidem, not ne unum quidem verbum)

206.

Work.

labor, exhausting effort ; (See 96.)

opus, (1) concretely the complete work, especially that of the artist, (2) the completion ;

opera, trouble arising from something (to trouble one's self, to take pains, operam dare, without sibi to take great pains, studiose, enixe operam dare not magnam operam dare : without pains, sine negotio, labore ; without any pains, nullo negotio, sine ullo labore ; with little pains, facile, no facili negotio) ; (See assiduitas.)

contentio, an exertion, a speech, a contest or strife

207.

mundus, universe ; (See 57, 102.)

orbis terrarum, the whole earth, universal empire = imperium orbis terrarum ; in the world = in terris unexperienced in the world = imperitus rerum ;

 what in the world? = quid tandem? where in the world? = ubi terrarum, gentium? all the world =
omnes (homines) ; all the world knows = nemo ignorat, nemo nescit, nemo est qui nesciat, nemo est quin sciat, quis est quin (qui non) sciat? quis nescit? the learned world = homines docti, litterati ;
 the world of to-day = homines qui nunc sunt or huius aetatis ; since the creation of the world =
post hominum memoriam, post homines natos.

*208.

Worse.

deterior, less good, compared with better ;
peior, compared with bad. (pessimus can be used jocularly, not deterrimus).

209.

Worth.

virtus, inner worth ;
praestantia, comparative sense, dignitas, or by a circumlocution with aestimare, facere, not pretium, which = price ;
 to attribute worth to a thing = tribuere, aliquid (multum) alicui rei, not pretium statuere alicui
rei, which = set a price upon anything.

210.

Yearly.

annuus, lasting a year, tempus annum ;
anniversarius (annus-vertō), (recurring) every year,
sacra ;
solemnis (sollus = totus and annus, cf. sollers), returning as festal day every year, in general, festival, usual, sacra, sacrificia ;
quotannis (adv.), that which happens at some time
 every year.

An Etymology of Latin and Greek.

With a Preliminary Statement of the New System of Indo-European Phonetics, and Suggestions in Regard to the Study of Etymology. By CHARLES S. HALSEY, A.M., Principal of Union Classical Institute, Schenectady, N.Y. 12mo. Cloth. 272 pages. Mailing Price, $1.25. Introduction, $1.12.

The following are the prominent features of the work : —

1. It presents the subject in a systematic form. The general principles and laws of the science are first clearly stated and illustrated; then the words are treated in their etymological order. This produces a result far better than can be obtained from the mere study of detached words scattered irregularly through a lexicon.

2. It gives a new and simple plan, presenting side by side for each group of related words the form of the root in Indo-European, Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin, with the meaning of the root. Following these roots are the most practical Greek words and the most practical Latin words, with their meanings. This furnishes a valuable stock of words associated by the natural bond of their common derivation, each language, too, throwing light upon the other.

3. It presents within moderate compass the results of the latest investigations of the highest authorities, omitting doubtful etymologies, and is thus at once rigidly scientific and thoroughly practical.

4. It gives great prominence to the derivation of English words, supplying to a large degree the place of an English etymology.

5. Being furnished with a complete index for every root and word treated, it can be conveniently used as a work of reference.

6. It presents the entire subject in a form thoroughly adapted to school use in classes. The study of Etymology, as here presented, may begin with the very outset of the study of Latin, and be continued through the entire course of classical study. It may be pursued with a separate recitation, or in brief portions, in connection with the recitations from the Greek and Latin authors.

7. The present work is the first school-book to set forth in the English language the principles and the application of the new system of I.-E. Phonetics. This it does in full, and in a practical and intelligible form. This work may be used without confusion in connection with any grammar or lexicon; and it supplies thoroughly what they may lack in the important department of Etymology.

Ginn & Heath's Classical Atlas.

By A. KEITH JOHNSTON, LL.D., F.R.G.S., aided by W. E. GLADSTONE, Prime Minister of England. Contains also a Geography of the Ancient World, prepared by W. F. ALLEN of the Univ. of Wisconsin. Bound in full cloth, with guards, similar to Long's Classical Atlas ($7\frac{1}{2} \times 12$ inches). Mailing price, \$2.30; Introduction, \$2.00.

We would call special attention to the binding of the cloth edition. It is mounted on guards, the binding thus costing about twice as much as that of the English edition, and yet we do not increase the price to the purchaser. As a book of this kind is in constant use, the stronger binding very much enhances its value.

Comprising in Twenty-three Plates, Colored Maps and Plans of all the important countries and localities referred to by Classical Authors. Embodies the results of the most recent investigations. Has a full Index of Places, in which the proper quantities of the syllables are marked by T. HARVEY and E. WORSLEY, M.M.A., Oxon, Classical Masters in Edinburgh Academy. Also containing ALLEN's Geography of the Ancient World, which is designed to bring the leading epochs and events of ancient history into connection with the geography of the ancient world. Brief suggestions to teachers are added, to assist in the work of the class-room.

"It has the special attraction of Mr. Gladstone's coöperation, who not only placed at the editor's disposal the illustrations to his work on Homer, but enhanced the favor by revising the proof-sheets of the plates and text, as adapted for this Atlas."—Spectator.

W. W. Goodwin, Prof. of Greek, Harvard Univ. : It is a most beautiful and highly useful work, and I am glad to see what used to be an expensive luxury brought within the means of all students of the classics. (Dec. 2, 1880.)

Elisha Jones, Asst. Prof. of Latin, Univ. of Mich. : From my cursory acquaintance I have recommended it to our teachers. The map of the Homeric Geography is a feature not contained in either of my other atlases, and will aid Homeric students greatly.

Tracy Peck, Prof. of Latin, Yale Coll. : I have heretofore known the Atlas sufficiently well to feel justified in recommending it to inquiring students. (May 9, 1881.)

S. R. Winans, Tutor in Greek, Princeton Coll., N.J. : It is superb: nothing to criticise, and everything to commend. Every student of the classics needs something of the sort, and this is by all odds the best of its kind. (Oct. 4, 1880.)
